TAPE RECORDING FOR JUNE MEETING

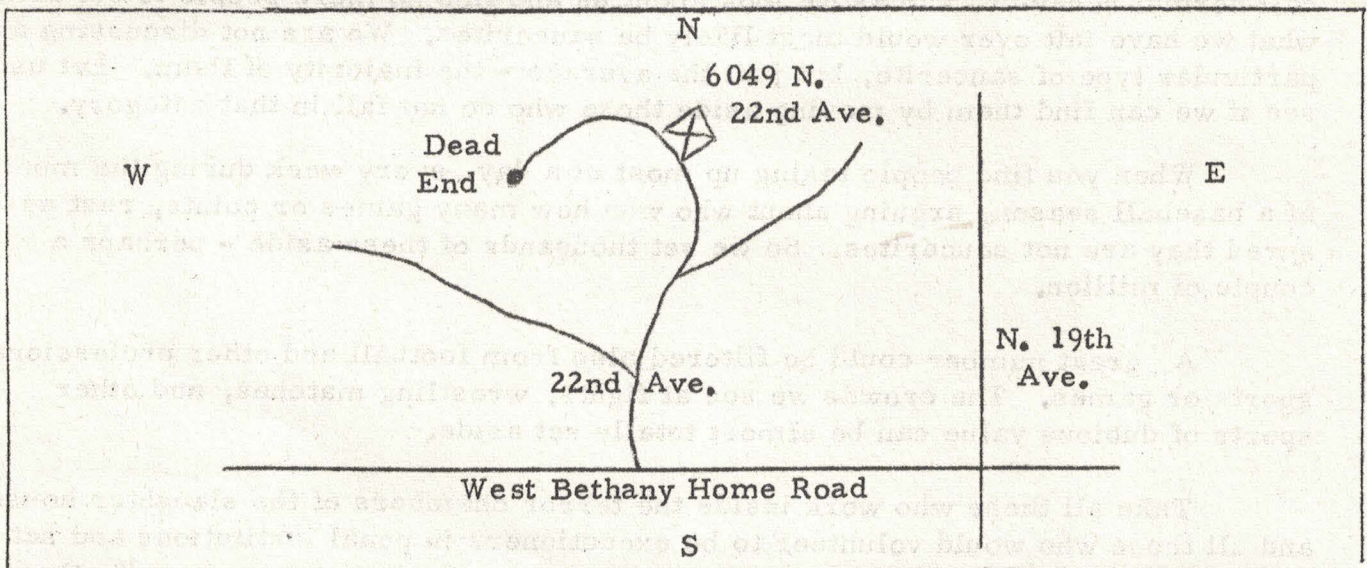

The June meeting of the Forum Division of S.R.A. will be held at the home of our vice president, Jack Myers, 6049 North 22nd Avenue, Phoenix, on Friday, June 19, 1959, at 8:00 P.M. (See map below.)

After the business meeting a short tape recording on the subject of spacecraft will be played, to be followed by a panel discussion. There will also be further discussion concerning the formation of study groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers have invited all members who wish to come early and cool off before the meeting to bring their bathing suits for a swim in their pool. It is requested that as many bring chairs as possible.

Although it was announced earlier that the June meeting would be held at the Shrouts Ranch, it was necessary to change plans as they will be in Tucson that night.

WHO AND WHAT ARE SAUCERITES?

By Orfeo Angelucci

Saucerites are a brand new lot of people who have shown up since June 24, 1947. A saucerite, naturally enough, is one who believes that flying saucers are objects that originate not on Earth, but from some world out in the Cosmos. Believers and adherents include all types of people and schools of thought, to a more or less degree, and in all walks of life, from the beggar to royalty.

It would be difficult to standardize saucerites. Your next door neighbor may be a saucerite, though you never suspected it. A member of a family may be a dedicated saucerite, although the remainder of the members rejects the idea of space visitors, as well as space travel. A minister or a school teacher may be a secret worker for the case of saucerdom. You can know only by the beam on their faces at the slightest mention of the subject.

If we cannot tell real saucerites by their behavior and there is no set criterion by which we can recognize them, there must be another way we can pick them out. First, we eliminate those who normally do things that saucerites seldom or never do. In other words, if we can't know them by what they do, we can know them by what they don't usually do. A good portion of the population is automatically removed by this process of elimination. Most people are governed by what we call normal behavior, and as we look about us and find no more people to set aside, what we have left over would most likely be saucerites. We are not discussing a particular type of saucerite, but just the average - the majority of them. Let us see if we can find them by moving aside those who do not fall in that category.

When you find people taking up most of a day, every week during the months of a baseball season, arguing about who won how many games or points, rest assured they are not saucerites. So we set thousands of these aside - perhaps a couple of million.

A great number could be filtered also from football and other professional sports or games. The crowds we see at fights, wrestling matches, and other sports of dubious value can be almost totally set aside.

Take all those who work inside the terror chambers of the slaughter houses and all those who would volunteer to be executioners in penal institutions and set these aside also. There will scarcely be one saucerite in these ranks. To these add a few thousand incorrigible criminals, thus swelling the ranks of the non-saucerites.

We will not yet easily find our saucerites because we still have a large mixed population remaining to be filtered. Although saucerites have been called screwballs and crackpots, we rarely find them in mental institutions, for these are filled with the truly unfortunate ones with delusions which cover nearly all the facets of human life. Rarely, however, do they have illusions about space and space visitors. We need not look here, therefore, for saucerites.

Round up all the glib solicitors and advertisers of alcoholic beverages, tobacco and narcotics. These are seldom saucerites. True, saucerites may be victims of these things, but they will never seek to foster the habit for another person, particularly children.

Take in one swoop the avid gamblers, and those who misname hunting as a sport, together with the race track crowd, and place them with the groups already mentioned, for even among these a saucerite is a rarity.

Gather up all dyed-in-the-wool communists, include some cynical materialists, and we add numbers to the non-saucerites, for they are all of that. None of these can be true saucerites. This is not an edict from the Space Visitors themselves, for they do not proclaim themselves with one element or another. However, they do smile on true saucerites, whoever and whatever they may be.

There is one school of thought that is controversial in this matter. There are, for instance, the science fiction writers who have even omitted the term "flying saucers" from their writings. They are hard-core hypocrites and must not be confused with saucerites by any means. With these we can combine all those who claim to believe in flying saucers but see them only as conveyors of evil beings, repulsive odors, and messages fit only for morons. Most members of this group soon give up the ghost and admit their hoaxes, although some of them are persistent and have quite a following even among saucerites, whom they mislead. Eventually these too will fall by the wayside, wryly admit their inventions and mischievous purposes, and will be heard from no more.

We now have left only a minority of our population. You may be sure, however that in this remainder the majority of the people are saucerites. It may be necessary to remove those who wish to believe that angels have wings, for angels do not have wings. Wings are useless in space. Of course, they say divine beings can do anything, but then if that is true they would not need wings even in the air. It must be decided once and for all - it is wings and not magnetic forces, or it is magnetic forces and no wings. Angels are more highly developed than birds, and wings would make angels only a little above birds and far below man. Man has gone into space, while birds do not even know about space.

Let us leave the controversy about wings with those who have little else to think about or, as has been long since pointed out to us, leave the dead to bury their dead, and finish with a good polishing-up of the true saucerites.

We cannot discriminate among the true saucerites. We cannot say that this one is not because he has peculiar and weird ideas connected with our Space Visitors. It is doubtful that even a true saucerite knows all about Space Visitors. Space Visitors have revealed themselves, true enough, and they have contacted some of us. But all that has been learned from them thus far is well within human knowledge on Earth, and often even behind it. In many cases it would appear that Earth people are more brilliant than Space Visitors. But not in all cases.

Certainly, the reports of sightings, and what we ourselves have seen, indicate a science and an all-around capacity far beyond the ken of Earthmen. And this fact will one day make non-saucerites of present saucerites and saucerites of those now non-saucerites. Why is that? we may ask. It is because those who slight the capabilities of Space Visitors never really were saucerites, and those who have slowly pondered the majesty of these objects - or Visitors - will one day be true saucerites.

Every child is a true saucerite behind the facade that uninformed and narrow-minded elders weave before him. Every level-headed person is a true saucerite when he pauses long enough to contemplate the Universe. Every person who really senses the infinity of time, space and creation is a true saucerite. And, the devil take the hindmost, Earthmen themselves are sprouting their "wings" to become space visitors. One day we shall all be saucerites. And then, even we shall become Space Visitors.

AFSCA CONVENTION - JULY 11-12

Gabriel Green, Director of the Los Angeles Interplanetary Study Group and editor of "Thy Kingdom Come," has scheduled the first national convention of the Amalgamated Flying Saucer Clubs of America, Inc., for July 11 and 12 at the Hotel Statler-Hilton, 930 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles 17, California.

The advance registration is $3.00 per person until June 30; until July 4, $4.00; and at convention, $5.00. Room prices at the Hotel Statler-Hilton are from $8.00 up per day for singles and from $11.50 up per day for double rooms.

From 40 to 60 contactee speakers are expected to attend, including Carl Anderson, Orfeo Angelucci, Truman Bethurum, Eugene Drake, William Ferguson, Daniel Fry, Calvin Girvin, Dana Howard, Trevor James, George King of England, Gloria Lee, Laura Mundo (Marxer), John McCoy, Wilbur Miller, Reinhold Schmidt, Ray Stanford, Margaret Storm, Hope Troxell, and many others. Six meeting halls will be utilized, and anyone wishing to tape the lectures may do so.

JULY MEETING AT TIMARACS

The July meeting of the S.R.A. Forum Division will be held at the home of Mrs. Jean Timarac, 5014 North 29th Avenue, Phoenix, on July 17. A program for this meeting has not as yet been definitely scheduled.

It is requested that all members put a red pencil mark around this date in order that it will not be forgotten. Your Spacecrafter editor will be on vacation and expects to be out of town during the greater part of July, therefore, it has been necessary to combine the June and July issues of our monthly bulletin.

REPORT ON THE SIXTH INTERPLANETARY SPACECRAFT CONVENTION

By Charles Marcoux

After a hectic twelve hours on the road from Phoenix to Giant Rock Airport, we arrived at the 6th Annual Convention sponsored by George Van Tassel with weary muscles but with the knowledge we would be compensated for the long trip. As we approached our destination we were rewarded by seeing a bright object blazing a sky path in the direction of Giant Rock.

We arrived on Saturday morning at 10:20 and hastily set up camp. In our group were Franky Miller, editor of the Spacecrafter, Pat French, Joan Lacey, Ray Barnes, editor of The Search Lighter, my wife and myself. Others from the Phoenix Association who attended were Russell Cloud, president, Jack Myers, vice president, Dorothy Miller, recording secretary, Mrs. Frances Cloud, David Moore, Esther Frank, Wilfred Bastien, Agnes Sanborn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson. Mrs. Miller had just completed publication of the books, "Facing Reality" by Truman Bethurum, and "Concrete Evidence" by Orfeo Angelucci, which were placed on sale immediately upon our arrival.

Mr. Van Tassel had arranged various types of entertainment and as we approached the Rock, a parachute jump was in progress. There were a number of other aerial displays, and one of the most interesting entertainers was a young blind man who did acrobatics.

The first speaker we heard was Truman Bethurum whose lecture advocated peace. Reinhold Schmidt followed with an account of his experiences with Saucer Beings from Saturn, and I felt the most interesting part of his experience was the attempt by officials to force him to contradict his story. He is to be commended for his courage.

Among the other speakers during the two-day session were George Van Tassel, Gabriel Green, Dan Fry, Orfeo Angelucci, Kelvin Rowe, Calvin Girvin, and Mark Probert. We had expected to hear Kenneth Arnold and the Mitchell sisters, but they were unable to attend. We heard a tape recording by the Mitchell sisters which was quite interesting.

The general trend of the lectures centered around the creative forces, the universal energies of creation. It would appear that each of the contactees has been in communication with beings of high spiritual evolution and that the time is at hand for a new step forward for all humankind. It is very evident that a destructive force is about to be unleashed upon the human race, not to destroy but to rebuild through a process of elimination. This great change appears imminent in the light of the findings of the various contactees. The present world social system has decayed and degenerated to the point where from its ashes must rise the new race, and every sign evidences these facts.

It was pointed out by Van Tassel and several others that this year's crowd, although only one-third as large as last year, appeared to be more interested in the principles promulgated by the Space People in their teachings. The previous years had brought adventurers, hoaxers and deliberate frauds along with the seekers for knowledge. This year none of these were present and the crowd appeared to be completely sincere.

From an analysis of each of the speakers and the context of their messages, it was evident that they were motivated by sincerity and, in some cases, were truly inspired. The speakers appeared to have a profound knowledge of Universal Teachings which can be obtained only through careful and intensive study. One sensed the presence of a very high spiritual essence, and the words spoken often seemed to stem from an intelligence which did not come from human understanding but from a more highly evolved entity.

There is no doubt that the time of decision has come - a decision which will determine the future course of humankind on this sphere - earth. The human race has reached the bridge, and in its crossing shall emerge "man" in his true capacity, that which he was created to achieve. Every speaker present either discussed or implied that we are at the threshold of a New Age and that we have reached a climax which spells doom to the present social patterns of world culture.

Mark Probert, well known trance medium, gave a message from Yada di Shi'ite on Saturday evening which lasted two hours. The profoundness of his discussion was relieved by humorous interpolations. Sincere admiration was generally expressed by the crowd for this man who has devoted himself, physically and mentally, to this cause. Everyone was saddened by the news that his wife and able assistant, Irene, was hospitalized, and a meditation was held on her behalf.

George Van Tassel's closing speech pointed out the spectre which hovers over the world, a sinister force whose manipulations have created a world of chaos, slavery and indecision, leaving in its wake blood and disillusionment.

I feel there was a divine reason which guided only certain people to this convention, and present were a select group of speakers whose findings have and will bring a new hope for the coming race. Each came for a specific purpose - to learn how to be of service during the days to come. In my own case, I was told some time ago this would occur and that from the 22nd day of May on new paths would appear to assist my researches.

This was the Sixth Convention to be held at Giant Rock. Mr. Van Tassel is not planning to hold future conventions because his time will be devoted to research in accordance with instructions given him by people from Outer Space. This series of conventions has proved quite successful in that through him much needed information has been disseminated to the people. George Van Tassel has worked with divine guidance and has fulfilled a great need. It may be coincident that this sixth convention was attended by only a certain type of people, while the seventh will not be. The sacred number seven will be fulfilled by other things to come.

On our trip home we were rewarded by an interesting spacecraft sighting. First there appeared a brilliant flash, then we saw a large white light immediately in front of us. Soon a red light appeared a short distance away, and from the dark space between the lights five star-like objects dropped, each at a different angle. We were sure then that we were looking at a mother ship from which scout ships were disembarking. After a short time the large ship moved southward, then turned west. After proceeding for a little distance it stopped and another light appeared above it, forming a triangle. After a few seconds the third light disappeared and it sped on toward the west. About an hour later another ship appeared in the southern skies going west. As we watched it, again a third light appeared, forming a triangle for a short period of time, then it disappeared and the ship sped on its way.

HAS CAPTAIN KILLIAN BEEN SILENCED?

CSI of New York City held a UFO Symposium on March 27 at the Hotel Diplomat. The meeting was attended by over 1,500 people from all phases of the UFO controversy. The most important man of the evening was important because he was not there.

This was Capt. Peter Killian who was to be one of the principal speakers. Killian is the American Airlines Pilot who reported the 3 UFO's for 45 minutes on the flight from Newark to Detroit, on February 24. In spite of his previous plans to attend the meeting, he did not. He had the express approval of his employers to talk about his sighting, but just prior to the meeting at the Diplomat, Capt. Killian called Major Donald E. Keyhoe and said he could not attend the symposium.

Major Keyhoe quoted Capt. Killian as saying, "I feel very deeply concerned with this loss of my own personal freedom."

MOTHER SHIP AND DISCS SEEN IN 1932

Newly appointed International UFO Observer Corps Area Investigator for Co. Dublin, Eire, Mr. Eric Millar, has sent this interesting sighting account to the Review. It happened back in 1932. Osolde Cazelet, of Grosvenor Road, Rathmines, Dublin, was in a garden at Sandymount, at 7:30 A.M. It was daylight. Suddenly, an orange ball, approximately the size of a full moon rushed at terrific speed across the sky. She had just time to shout out to her sister who was in bed, before the object disappeared. "It sounded like a fire when water has been thrown on to it, and had six or so very much smaller satellites," she said. The large one was quite round but the satellites glistened with points as stars when seen by the naked eye.

(The phrase "it sounded like a fire when water has been thrown on it" is an identical description to that given by Mrs. Rostenberg of the sound made by the saucer seen by her and her children at Renton, England, in 1956. She stated, too, that two men looked down at her and the children through a window in the craft as it hovered over the house.)

EDITORIAL FROM "FLYING SAUCER REVIEW"

By The Hon. Brinsley le Poer Trench

The saucers that are visiting us are not in themselves important; they are but one of the means of communication in the cosmos. The important thing is the message they bring to us on Earth at this moment.

Although many people on this planet are living a Christlike life, generally speaking, Man has for centuries been an egotistical creature, concerned with getting material possessions for himself. He has hated, fought and killed his fellow-men down through the ages, in order to grab and get.

This negative behaviour, stemming from an inherent desire to show off his ego, whether it be by owning a better car or having a bigger income than his next-door neighbour, has caused jealousies, frustrations and domestic quarrels. On the international level the grab and get way of life has culminated in the two recent world wars.

The message of the space people is that we should put grab and get into reverse and substitute give and serve. You do not have to hate, fight and kill your fellowman to carry out that policy.

Today there is too much of the "I'm all right, Jack," attitude. As long as "I" am all right - that "I" have all my wants attended to - it does not matter about anyone else. That seems the general idea just now....

Some of you may feel that you are important; some of you may want a sensation; some of you may want notoriety, or you may want to "get my contact." These are merely further examples of "getting." When you ask for a contact it should be done with the highest motives - for example, because you want to serve your fellowmen.

Why do we not realise the ONENESS of all the universe - of all creation - and, in feeling that ONENESS appreciate that we are each given the privilege of individual self expression, but, at the same time, are part of the whole.

If we understand the link between ourselves and others, wherever they may be in this world, or indeed, throughout the universe, then we certainly must feel a joy in being of service to them, knowing that every living thing is really ONE. Surely then we could never again harm or kill anything in creation!

Then, if everything is ONE, why is it the current international situation is far from harmonious? In the last few years terrible weapons of destruction have been devised and the spectre of nuclear war hangs over the world. It seems we have not yet learnt this lesson of ONENESS. We are still not in harmony with the universe.

The space people are not here to save us; otherwise they would have intervened before World Wars I and II. They are here to help us help ourselves. One reason why they are here is to show us the way - even now at this late hour - and it is the same way we were shown 2,000 years ago. We were told then to look within and the message to love one another is still the same. It is only through the individual that this can come about. Nobody, even on another planet, can do that for us.

FLAMING BALL NEAR TOPEKA

The Topeka Daily Capital of May 2 carried a headline, "Flaming Ball Seen Near Topeka," The Topeka Journal of May 3 carried a headline "Mystery Blaze Was Haystack."

The haystack report came from a Forbes Air Force Dispatch which found the burning haystack at 1:00 a.m. The "flaming ball" was seen in the sky by at least five people. They reported seeing the object at 10:10 p.m. This puts almost three hours between the sighting and the discovery of the burning haystack by the boys from Forbes.

Here is the story Mr. Walter Pennington gave us: "It was just a big ball of fire. It looked to me like it was 20 or 30 feet across. It was just a little bit longer coming down that it was across, but it was coming at an even speed. It didn't look like a meteorite because it wasn't going fast enough for one of those.... It was coming down at about an 85 degree angle. We watched it a total of about 45 seconds before it disappeared behind the house.... It seemed like it wouldn't be over 20 miles away at the most. I'd say it wasn't moving over 200 miles an hour at the most from what I could see of it.... It was 12 to 12 miles east of Hoyte, somewhere up there. That would be about 20 miles north of Topeka, somewhere in that neighborhood, and a little bit east of Highway 75.... They found the haystack north of Holton six miles. So they were way off course between what we saw and where they found their fire."

Through another interview it was learned that Mr. and Mrs. David Carreno saw the same object, though they live on the opposite side of town from the Penningtons. They reported it as being high above ground, looked a little larger than the moon and was several miles away. Also that it was moving rather slow, and was red streaked, like flames. They, too, reported it as being in a northerly direction, and not in the vicinity of the haystack.

So now we got haystacks.

MAY MEETING HELD IN DESERT

By Joanne Lacy

The Fourth Dimension (or Fourth Estate as he preferred to call it) was the subject of the talk by Mr. Hunter at the May meeting of the Forum Division which was held on the Hunter Ranch. At the conclusion of the talk, a few small groups were formed for contact purposes, but were unsuccessful. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hunter, and the group was very appreciative of the Hunters' hospitality.

A MESSAGE FROM ETHERIA

To all Earthians:

The time has come when procrastination can no longer be employed. The sheep have already been separated from the goats. Only a few borderline cases remain, and for those the decision must be made now. Tomorrow may be too late.

You have been told again and again to prepare for the great upheaval which is coming to your Earth's surface. Many of you have heeded the messages which have come through our channels but alas, many have not. Some have been repelled by what they felt were prophecies of impending doom. Oh, can you not recognize that there must be a destruction of the old forms in order that the New Age may descend upon your Earth to bring Joy and Happiness and Peace to all men alike? You would not build a new house on top of an old decaying structure. Rather, you would first destroy the old.

So it is with your Earth. Your cultures are predicated on negativity. Fear is the emotion upon which your way of life is based. Man fears poverty, hunger, illness, loss of loved ones, loss of employment, what his next door neighbor may say and, most of all, he fears death.

Your great Teachers and your prophets have told you of the Law of Cause and Effect. They have pled with you to do unto your brothers as you would have them do unto you. Yet, selfishness, greed, hate, lust, avarice and other unlovely motives have governed the lives of the majority of your people. You say "self preservation is instinctive." Yes, the preservation of life is instinctive, but that does not mean you are to take advantage of your brothers in order that you may accumulate worldly goods which is only false security.

Know you not that the Golden Rule extends not only to the Kingdom of Man but also to the creatures of the Earth whom you may call your lesser brothers? Not less in the eyes of the Infinite One, but less in evolutionary development. You cannot destroy a life without paying a penalty, even in the lesser kingdoms.

You have been warned that the time of impending catastrophe is near. We will now be more specific. No later than the equinox which falls in your month of September will confusion be rife on parts of your beautiful planet. Your own country will not be affected at first, but the changes will gradually increase in momentum until it too will suffer areas of destruction. Be not surprised if news of developments in far-away lands is withheld. Your leaders know more than they would have you believe, and fear is their guide.

You who have prepared yourselves for the glories of the New Age about to be experienced will meet the forthcoming days with courage, for your understanding has grown and you are ready to set forth in accomplishment of the work to be done, the service to be rendered. You have filled your hearts with Love and Understanding and recognize the Brotherhood of all Beings, not only on your Planet Earth but all other planets. But alas, the others will turn in dismay, not knowing where to go or what to do.

For those of you who are ready for the great changes, continue with your tasks and give forth of the great Love which resides within your hearts. The vibrations of this love will be needed to help your planet as it settles itself in its new course. The greater the love you are able to express, whether it be for your brothers or for your Creator, the more quickly and surely will your Earth become balanced and ready for her rejuvenation and growth.

Ah, my brothers, we bear great love for you. As Guardians of your planet and the dwellers thereon, our hearts are saddened at the misery, the unhappiness, the poverty of understanding which we see expressed on every hand. Know then that we are ever near, ever standing by to give such help as we can to those of you who are willing to accept our assistance. Our spacecraft are many and we are prepared for all such exigencies as may arise.

May you ever dwell in the Light of Love and Understanding.

Your Etherian Brothers.

EX-GOC SUPERVISOR REPORTS UFO OVER MIAMI

April 8, 1959 - 7:35 p.m., Mrs. Robert Crawford of South Miami saw a greenish-white object traveling from south to north over Miami. She said it was about 20 times brighter than Venus, had no tail, and was traveling much slower than a meteor. It was in view for 10 to 12 seconds, and was then lost to view behind some trees. She saw it both against clear sky background and in front of clouds.

Mrs. Crawford was for two years the observation post supervisor for the Ground Observer Corps post atop the Merrick Building at the University of Miami.

The night previous to this two UFO's were seen over Miami, brighter than stars, and making a long sweeping curve over Miami. At one time the objects remained stationary for a number of minutes, and then appeared to pulsate, that is, move together and then separate, and repeated this maneuver several times.

RED LIGHT IN SKY BAFFLES CANADA

Canadian authorities were puzzled by an "unidentified flying object" that showed as a red light over the air defense establishment near Montreal and disappeared north at a speed faster than sound. The object, which did not register on radar screens, was seen by control tower observers at the St. Hubert Air Base and by several hundred other people at the airport and local residents. The Royal Canadian Air Force has no official explanation for the phenomenon. "It was a genuine UFO as far as we are concerned," an R.C.A.F. spokesman said.

SPACECRAFT OVER MEXICO

By W. Gordon Allen

(The following article is reprinted from "Flying Saucer Review," (1, Dougherty Street, London W.C. 1, England, published bi-monthly, $3.75 per year). Mr. Allen's new book, "Space-Craft From Beyond Three Dimensions," has just recently been published.)

Modern sightings of flying saucers or UFOs over the plain of Mexico have been quite frequent, but in a recently completed study of the writings connected with the Spanish conquest of Mexico, it is found that the UFO performed for Cortez and Montezuma just as it does today for us.

In the study of the stories and writings of the actions of the conquistadores in the Spanish conquest of Mexico, there were several omens that were taken as signs from heaven that the almighty Host would look with favour upon Cortez,

Further, on what is left of the public buildings of the Mayas and the Quiches who lived in Mexico from 20,000 to perhaps 12,000 years ago we also find allusions to "visitors from heaven." In the study of these writings are all kinds of references to the "lost" civilisations of Lemuria and Atlantis. The great plateau of Mexico was perhaps the buffer zone between these two great lands. Whatever the geopolitical position might have been, it is quite possible that the lands of Mexico and the two lost continents did have some sort of knowledge of each other and perhaps even regular contact. We won't say commercial intercourse because it is our suspicion that commerce and trade might be mostly an invention of a later type of psychology that made rule over others and personal acquisitiveness the compensation for the frustration of knowing little about the purpose of man and his growth after the deluge.

It was not necessary that trade and commerce and its resultant political rivalry develop during the time of the preceding civilisation. It might well be that man of former epochs on this planet had other desires rather than personal aggrandizement or compensation for his inferiority through slavery of others by bondage or commercial debt.

These thoughts are brought out to indicate the civilisations can develop that do not have "modern" factors as the motivation.

Now, as to the place of the plain of Mexico in this development: we must admit that the relationship of these quotations to present understanding is esoteric in nature. In our opinions of their meanings we must of necessity look upon them with the doubtful benefit of a certain type of twentieth century mind. We might remark that we will have as much right to the interpretations as would the sixteenth-century mind of a Spanish padre or one of the priestly staff of Montezuma. Nevertheless, we must admit that there might be a bit of truth in all three interpretations. There is little in the universe that is true or false, or black or white. Each mind arrives at some portion of the so-called "truth." The real "whole truth" is, of course, not yet for the mind of man to determine.

However, there have been manifestations of the appearance of UFOs over Mexico since the time of 20,000 years ago through the time of the Conquest right to present-day sightings of flying saucers.

One of the reasons that Hernan Cortez had such a psychological advantage over the ruling monarch, Montezuma, was the ruler's preoccupation with the predicted "return of Quetzalcoatl." We know, now, that Cortez was not Quetzalcoatl; but the Aztec was not possessed of this knowledge and acted very strangely. However, the world air forces do not have the answer to the UFO and so they have also acted very strangely. We must understand the military mind - the Aztec military or the modern military - when we wonder how men act under stress.

The stress upon the ruling house of the Emperor Montezuma in the year of 1509 was quite great when he heard the strange tale of white men from the rising sun who had landed on his shores.

The ruler was feared greatly by everyone in his empire. No one looked at him directly; he never set his foot upon the earth - his subjects carried him from place to place. He had the greatest contempt for the person of any of his subjects and his priesthood tore out tens of thousands of living hearts each year to keep the subjects duly fearful.

So, one can be certain that it was of no mortal man that the Emperor was afraid. So then, why was he so in fear of Cortez? Was it an omen? If so, what omen? Why was the interpretation of this omen of such significance that it destroyed one empire and preserved another?

It was in this year that a large green fireball trailing an orange tail performed for the subjects of this great ruler.

The fireball gyrated in the sky over Mexico City as the subjects wailed and screamed. The ruler made a definite inquiry of his priests as to just what was what. The group of priests who did not come up with an answer that would satisfy the Emperor knew they would lose their hides. (As we mentioned, Montezuma feared no mortal - not even his priesthood.)

The priests went to the archives and came back to remind their monarch of some historical facts regarding the land he now ruled. Now it would be utter folly for us in the twentieth century to set down these historical "facts" from the archives of the Aztec priesthood as the mutterings of medicine-men with the fear of death upon them. Rather, it might be wise to take the "facts" of the priests as those writings kept as a state secret for tens of thousands of years. One of the secrets necessary to their power. Power, over each succeeding monarch and power over the people. The source of these secrets is, of course, conjecture, but nevertheless, the origin might be of a time before the deluge and of the esoteric school of the East. From the East they could well have passed through the hands of the Mayans and Quiches to the remote ancestors of the Aztec. The astrologers and priests of the Aztec had this to say (We must remember that for the purpose of this writing, astrologer and astronomer have equal rank.) They told Monteczuma that the world in which he lived would fare no better than had the three worlds before him. Here is what they told the monarch and for the student of the UFO we feel these words are important:

ATONATIUH... (Water Sun) the first world (or civilisation?) had been swallowed by a deluge.

The fact that this appears in the book of ALL other religions over the world indicates that this fact seems pretty well known to every one of the ancient writers who attempted to preserve the legends that survived as religious literature. It seems somewhat remarkable that Monteczuma's astrologers knew this "fact" just as well as the Padre who accompanied Cortez.

TLAICHITONATIUH... (Earth Sun) had been quartered and divided again by earthquakes. Later, in other references we shall note that this was the great cataclysm that caused Atlantis to sink. How did the astrologers of the Aztec Empire know about this "fact" that seems not even to be widely accepted in the schools of the Western world even to this day?

ECATONATIUH... (Wind Sun) was very very interesting. This time great winds rose and killed all higher life except a few female monkeys.

TLATONATIUH... (Fire Sun) was, of course, the last world and that of the present Aztec Empire and that would be destroyed by fire. The Western bible predicts the same end for the planet.

Now, one would agree that we have two courses in lending credence to these declarations made some 450 years ago by Aztec priests. We can try to unwind the esoteric-psychological significance or we can just put them down to what ignorant savages told their ignorant monarch.

The latter course is the one that Western historians have followed until this writing. The author prefers to dust off these rather remarkable references and have "another go" at the problem of just what information these people had access to. It seems one devil of a lot more accurate than much we have used to build great hypotheses upon.

We might remark that our own astronomers have filled the public mind with what seems to be the most ridiculous of understandings of the cosmos. The International Geophysical Year discoveries have shown our own astro-observers to be not one whit better than superstitious savages - all their instruments notwithstanding.

We have long felt that astronomers were most exacting of scientists. Now we must admit that they are the most inexacting. So, our thought is to try to pay a lot more attention to the "historical facts" of the ancients. In the light of what we feel is our new knowledge we might find a much better fit to the jigsaw puzzle of the place where man fits in the universe.

What about the Water-Sun that swallowed the earth by a deluge? What caused the deluge? What cosmic disturbance could cause such a thing upon the whole planet?

The Aztecs say the deluge was caused by the explosion of the planet in the orbit beyond Mars into small parts. The largest now is the asteroid some 465 miles in diameter. There are thousands of other smaller pieces that make up the asteroid belt. This, perhaps, was the cosmic disturbance that brought about the first deluge.

Wind-Sun

Long eons after the deluge was the final settling of the earth's crust which could have been the cataclysm that sunk Mu, and raised both the Andes and the Rockies. Some very slight cosmic quake (disturbance of the planet's force fields) could have triggered this action. But the remarkable part of the tale seems to be that these ignorant savages knew about this happening eons before their time.

The Wind-Sun is the next earthly catastrophe that killed all higher life, but female monkeys are most interesting and at first reading seem like the mutterings of a witch-doctor.

BUT - there is reason to believe that the moon was once in an orbit between the earth and Mars. This satellite was either "pushed" out of the way of the Martians or "captured" by the "field" of the earth.

This could have caused the great winds that blew most of the life off the earth. The disturbance could have first been the "slight" cosmic disturbance that dropped Lemuria into the deep. Then the final result being the great winds around the planet as the atmosphere on the moon was "captured" by the earth when Luna dipped into its orbit around the bigger planet.

Why should our moon be by far the largest in the solar system in relation to its planet?

Now, there are truly remarkable situations which these astro-students of Montecuzuma seemed to know about and brought out of their archives for his information at the moment when a ball of fire was performing over his empire. They had other omens on which they could build their case for the "Return of Quetzalcoatl - a Spaceman" and, of course, they proceeded to give him their full performance.

The remarkable thing is that they seemed to have knowledge denied even to us today and consequently, they were expecting a white god from the heavens.

The fact that Cortez was not this god indicates that they just didn't have their identification proper arranged.

But there is more record about this Spaceman, Yogi, or Christ-like figure that brought about the story of Quetzacoatl.

God of the Wind

He, as God of the Wind. "A man of good appearance and grave countenance with white skin, a beard, and dressed in a long flowing white garment." "He was called by some, Quetzacoatl, and by some, Huemac, because of his great goodness. He taught the men of that long past time the way of virtue of his word and deed. He hoped to save them from vice and to give them laws, and good doctrine and to restrain them in their lewd and lustlike ways, and he instituted fasting and care of the body (yogi?) among them. But, seeing how little they followed this doctrine, he vanished to the East, telling them that at some time he would return."

It seems as if this great and good man with a beard has visited every land. He told of a fine way of life, but it seems that men, being what they are in all lands, did not take his teaching to heart and they persisted in falling upon evil ways.

By why would this great Emperor be so concerned about this ancient legend?

Here is another detailed description of a very strange phenomena in the sky that many would call the appearance of a "flying saucer."

"A big 'comet' appeared in the sky that looked like a big flame of fire, very bright, which threw forth sparks. This 'comet' was in the shape of a pyramid, wide at its lower part, and becoming narrow as it rose, so that it ended at a point. It could be seen in the middle of the Eastern sky and could be seen during the day and at night."

We might think that this was a truly remarkable description of "something" that was in the sky and certainly was not a comet even though that is the translation. But there is more to indicate that, contrary to the action of a comet, this "thing" seemed to leave in its wake a very heavily charged "field" electrical in nature.

"The CU or temple of the war god was seen to blaze without any human reason for it and the flames came from inside of the beams outwards. The priests called for water to put out the fire but the more water they poured on, the more the 'fire' burned. The next portent was the lightning stroke. The big 'comet' ran all through the sky of Mexico throwing off hot coals and big sparks and had a very long tail. The lagoon of Mexico (for the Aztec city was built on a lake) rose and boiled in fury though there WAS NO WIND!"

Well, read it two ways. Conventionally, the only explanation for this is that the writers were not to be believed. Such a thing is impossible.

IMPOSSIBLE unless it was a space ship and that it did have a highly-charged electrical field around it that could enable it to perform these "tricks" with ease.

This does, however, give us the basis of the reason that the Emperor of the Aztecs, his rule as absolute as that of any man on earth, was afraid of the advent of the "return of Quetzalcoatl."

The Omens

We can never know more than this which was without doubt the reason behind his strange actions. The misinterpretation of the omens do, nevertheless, leave us with the interesting afterthought that the omens themselves might well have been the real return of a space craft with some "Quetzacoatl" aboard.

Now these sightings of typical UFO or "flying saucer" phenomena by the astrologers or soothsayers of the Aztec are one thing.

What was the other side seeing in the sky at the same time? What kind of an omen was it to them?

One Bernal Diaz del Castillo makes a passing remark to the very same appearance. He saw the same performance of the highly-charged body over the sky of Mexico over a period of time that would preclude its being a comet.

The Spaniards took this to be a message from their God that he looked with favour upon the venture to obtain this great new land for purposes of making ever greater numbers of catholic converts.

But, nevertheless, it did perform. It was not a comet. There is to this day no adequate explanation in our scientific worlds for this performance.

These things are mentioned in passing just as strange stories and are not particularly part of the narrative. Mainly they are valuable ONLY to those who feel that the history of Western man as told to us in school is indeed a fairy tale.

Other stories of the high plateau of North and South America tell of little people and giants. These indefinite tales tell of the little people who built pyramids in high places in the Andes of giant blocks of stone that we cannot lift even with today's equipment. We feel they were little people because the passages in the structures were for little people.

Tales of Giants

The tales of giants also abound. Giants came down from above and killed the Inca women. We don't know if these were later Quetzacoatl who had spent too much time aboard their space craft, or what, but this same Bernal Diaz del Castillo has this to say about the thigh bone of a giant that Cortez sent to the court of the Spanish King to demonstrate to the Monarch that he was indeed in a strange land with many wonders:

"They said that their ancestors had told them that in times past there had lived among them men and women of giant size with huge bones, and because they were a very bad people of evil manners they fought with them and killed them and that those which remained had died off. So that we could see how high and tall these people were, they brought us the leg bone of one which was very thick and the height of a man of ordinary stature (5 ft. ?) and that was the (thigh) bone from hip to knee. We were all amazed at seeing these bones and felt sure that there must have been giants in this country. Our Captain Cortez said to us that it might be well to send the bone to Castile so that his Majesty might see it, so we sent it with the first of our agents who went there."

The Mexican no doubt would have been happy to have the Spaniard believe that they were giant killers. But the bones themselves indicated that there were giants about this high plain of Mexico a few hundred years ago.

Then if we believe it to be true we might ask what sort of giant was it that appeared on the high plain of Mexico and also in the Andes some thousands of years ago?

As Cortez and his men had a lust for gold, and not for giants and UFO reports, we might take them at their face value.

DR. WERNHER VON BRAUN SAID THIS???

Dr. Wernher von Braun, noted rocket expert, declared after the second moon shot failure (because the rocket was deflected out of its path): "There are forces in outer space, with origin still unknown to us, which are far stronger than we have assumed. I am not allowed to reveal more at this time, but in a few months we can become more specific. At the present time we are attempting to come in closer connection with these forces."

ADMIRAL SAYS NOT TO DISCOUNT "FLYING SAUCERS"

Rear Admiral George Dufek, in a statement March 11, advised the public not to discount the reality of flying saucers.

Admiral Dufek, who has headed the U.S. Antarctic research and exploration program, said it was not beyond possibility that some of the supposed meteors exploding in the earth's atmosphere actually "were saucers driven from Venus or other planets by intelligent creatures." "I think it is very stupid," he said, "for human beings to believe no one else in the universe is as intelligent as we are."

BUCK NELSON CONVENTION JUNE 27-28

The Second Annual Spacecraft Convention at Buck's Mountain View Ranch, Mountain View, Missouri, will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 27 and 28, 1959. The public is invited and a free will offering will be taken. There will be numerous speakers and a horse show.

It is requested that all who attend bring their own tent, house car or camping equipment, water, food, folding chairs, sleeping bags, etc.

WHAT DO YOU WANT?

By Betty Eilers

Is the Earthling's destiny that of hate and destruction? Will it be possible for the higher vibrations of Higher Beings to penetrate the heavy armour of greed and selfishness that encases nearly every human being on Earth?

As Space People view the atrocious practice of sending "little brothers" in space cones into the great void, can they see any hope at all for us on earth? Surely they must shudder when they study man's inhumanity to man and beast; man's great art in bullying and his dedicated service to the fallacious teaching that "Might Makes Right," and they must seek ways to protect the finer things of the Universe from the spoilers of Earth. Yet, while voicing pleas for help spiritually, our material hearts yearn only for DOMINATION of Space, and the making of Earth an example for all to follow. Earth will be made an example -- but not the kind its rulers dream of!

Inasmuch as every Scripture contains the Golden Rule, every human being on Earth is morally bound to honor that law. If he fails to do so, then the law of cause and effect becomes most effective. This, too, is given in every Scripture. If we sow love, justice, mercy and the belief of the ONENESS OF LIFE, then shall we reap love, justice, mercy and the indescribable joy of sharing LIFE with all beings - man, animal, tree, insect, planets, the sea, and so on. If, on the other hand, we sow hate, persecution, cruelty and the devastating knowledge that he is only part way up the scale of evolution - that other Beings are far greater than he is and Their concern for the beings man holds in contempt is the same as it is for man himself.

Our concept of Space People is that of peacemakers; yet, we hear and read of space wars, war vehicles, weapons, etc., ad nauseum. If there is nothing to look forward to but war, hate, bloodshed (both of war and blood-sports) our lives are lived in vain; we have given no good, and the evil we have perpetrated receives no consideration - we and eternal war are one!

Can we accept this? Can persons who speak of "using" other beings for purposes other than for their own good be considered as messengers of Peace and Wisdom? Can humans who envision space battlefields actually want the Harmony of Divine Understanding? Is it not possible for us to guide our thinking so that in selecting "leaders," "prophets," and the like we study what they say, how they act, and whether they are big enough to reject all forms of cruelty and accept ALL LIFE AS ONE? Materialism has blotted Earth; have we the necessary stamina, will to think, urge for knowledge, and desire for compassion that we can pierce these heavy clouds and provide little lights for Higher Beings to see and know that Their work is not in vain?

After asking all these questions and turning to the heavens for answers, it would seem that though the way is long and difficult, humans of Earth must study and PRACTICE brotherhood - including not only the beings in human dress but also those in other dress - the fish, birds, animals, flowers and grains and trees, rocks, rivers and mountains. We are all a part of the GREAT ONENESS and without this understanding, we can appreciate neither ourselves nor the vast Universe of which we are a part.

SPACECRAFT SIGHTINGS

May 13. 8:05 P.M. Going south on 16th Street at about Bethany Home Road, Joanne Lacy saw two bright lights in the eastern sky. Thinking they were airplane landing lights because they were close together and because she was driving and couldn't watch too closely, she paid little attention, just glancing in that direction several times, seeing only one light that had grown fainter, and then nothing. To her surprise, upon reaching home her parents had been on Camelback Road at 8:05 and had seen a very bright light near Saturn, which was on the horizon. They said it looked like it had points coming out from it and moved away at a terrific speed. Knowing the exact time in both cases, they assumed they had seen the same spacecraft. Joanne then recalled that there had been no flashing lights such as on airplanes so there must have been more than one craft.

May 15. 6:00 P.M. Ruth Hallas was driving north on Third Avenue on the way to El Rancho Market when she looked up at the sky and saw a round silver disc traveling northwest. Because of the traffic she was unable to pull off to the side to watch it more carefully, but she described it as being as "round as a dollar" and a beautiful sight to behold.

May 15. 11:45 P.M. On the way home from the S.R.A. meeting at the Hunters, Russell and Frances Cloud, Mrs. Clara Leland, Joanne Lacy and another member saw a brilliant green fireball shoot downward in the northern sky. It was as if as a climax to the evening the Space Brothers had given a signal that they had been near.

WINDSHIELDS SPLINTER IN ITALY

For no explainable reason, on one of the large expressways in Northern Italy, near Carrara, at the end of June, 1958, over 200 automobiles reportedly had chipped or splintered windshields. Even the extra thick windshields of buses were broken and several drivers were injured.

ANTI-GRAVITY by DUNK

1 We have set up a special department to collect all the information available.

2 We have bought special cameras to track them at speeds in the region of 40,000 M.P.H.

3 Local police have been asked to look into civilian sightings unobtrusively and send us reports in confidence.

4 We investigate every sighting report exhaustively

5 Some of our air crews have been grilled for over 2 hours

6 Intelligence officers have been sent to other countries to correlate their data with our own

7 We have given secret briefings to all our high-ranking officers

8 But it's absolutely priceless....

9 That anyone should think we take these things seriously!!

ARE YOU PLANNING TO ATTEND THE A.F.S.C.A.I. CONVENTION IN LOS ANGELES ON SAT, AND SUN., JULY 11 AND 12

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Miller:

I have read your Spacecrafter booklets with, I must say, a great deal of interest. I have also read with great interest as many books about Flying Saucers as I have been able to get my hands on. To say the least, the material gathered from these books is astounding. The evidence surely seems to indicate that Flying Saucers do exist and that they originate from a source other than our planet Earth.

However, as you must be very well aware, it is extremely difficult to change the beliefs and opinions of most people especially when our own government denies the existence of these Flying Saucers and labels anyone who has anything to do with them crack pots.

There is a way though to present evidence that would be almost impossible to disprove. Eventually our government will have succeeded in sending a rocket around the moon and sending back a picture of the other side. If one of those who claim to have been in a Flying Saucer could produce a photograph or sketch of the other side of the moon and publish it before our government does, it would prove beyond a shadow of a doubt the existence of a craft that can only have been that which is called a Flying Saucer.

At that time there would be no more use of our government denying them and I'm sure they will then release any information they may have on file.

It will also be the final proof most people will need to convince them that Flying Saucers are fact and not fiction.

More people will then watch the skies and not fear reporting sightings. This way eventually the complete riddle will be solved.

Yours truly,

John Mannoia

NEWS NOTES

We were sorry to learn of the sudden passing of Mrs. Faye Crane's husband last month. We wish to express our sincere sympathy.

News has been received of the marriage of Esta Hatch and Tom Davis which took place in April at Flagstaff where both are attending College.

Among the new arrivals in Phoenix is Bill Rawlinson, editor of "Celestial News." Bill came here from San Antonio, Texas, and expects to make Phoenix his home. Anyone interested in receiving his publication may send $1.00 for a year's subscription to Celestial News, 2627 North Central Avenue, Phoenix, Arizona.

LIBRARY NEWS

Our Librarian, Gladys van Derslice, has the following books for sale. They can be purchased at our meetings or you may call at her home, 4203 North 15th Drive, in Phoenix. Telephone: AM 5-2915.

Secret Places of the Lion	$4.00	Aboard A Flying Saucer	$3.00
Dweller On Two Planets	7.50	The Secret of the Saucers	3.00
The Aquarian Gospel	4.00	Looking Backward	.75
Soarings of the Eagle	1.25	Two Nights To Remember
The Council of the Seven Lights	3.50	Flying Saucer Revelations	3.00
Flying Saucer Pilgrimage	3.50	The Atomic World	2.50
Flying Saucers and the Straight		Finding of the Third Eye	2.50
Line Mystery	4.00	Wisdom in Practice	2.50
The Kearney Incident and		Flying Saucer From Mars	2.75
To the Arctic Circle		Steps to the Stars	1.50
In a Spacecraft	1.25	Look Up!	2.00
Concrete Evidence	1.00	UFO's Confidential	3.00
The Inexplicable Sky	3.95	My Trip to Mars, the Moon
We Come In Peace	1.00	and Venus	1.00
White Sands Incident	1.50	Healthy Hunzas	3.00
Flying Saucers Have Landed	3.50	Voice of the Planet Clarion	1.25
They Shall Be Gathered Together	2.00	Mucousless Diet	2.00
		Understanding Magazine	.25

If you wish to purchase a book which is not listed, please advise our Librarian and she will make every attempt to procure the book for you.

Our rental library contains most of the above books, together with others which have been donated by members. You may call our Librarian and request that the book of your choice be brought to our meetings from our rental library or pick them up at her home. The charge is 25¢ per month.

RECOMMENDED READING

DWELLER ON TWO PLANETS, by Phyllos $7.50

This is a classic in its field. It describes life on Atlantis and, although first published in the 1890's, describes the "ventilas" which were the spacecraft of the Atlantean era. This book is not easy reading but it is one you will never forget.

THE AQUARIAN GOSPEL, by Levi $4.00

The story of the life of Jesus as taken from the Akashic Records. This records his life from birth to death, including the "unknown" years and describes his journeys and studies in Egypt, Persia, India, and other countries. This is a beautiful book which you will treasure.

Books are keys to wisdom's treasures;
Books are gates to lands of pleasures;
Books are paths that upward lead,
Books are friends - Come, let us read.
